Presentations were also made by the following Observer institutions:

- International Committee for the Red Cross (ICRC) (The Role of the ICRC in Humanitarian Relief Operations in the Region).
- Inter-American Defense Board (IADB) (Disaster response mechanisms in Inter-American system).

Key Issues Discussed

1. The need for effective strategies for the deployment of the military in provision of humanitarian emergency assistance; and the importance of having a coordinated response mechanism in a complex emergency environment.
2. In response to the proposal for the establishment of an Ad Hoc Working Group to facilitate dialogue on the development of a framework for a Hemispheric Defence and Security Cooperation Policy, beginning with a focus on Humanitarian Emergency Assistance, members of the Working Committee debated under whose mandate this Group would be established.
3. Members of the Working Committee acknowledged the importance of utilising existing bilateral, sub-regional and hemispheric networks in developing a hemispheric cooperation mechanism in response to disasters.

Conclusions

1. Respect for sovereignty should be a foremost consideration in the development of any policy or cooperation/coordination mechanism.
2. Given the overwhelming support for the proposal for the establishment of an Ad Hoc Working Group by the members of the Working Committee III, to facilitate dialogue on the development of a framework for a Hemispheric Defence and Security Cooperation Policy, beginning with a focus on Humanitarian Emergency Assistance, the proposal should be presented to the General Assembly.
3. Members of the Working Committee suggested that the following be included for consideration by the Ad Hoc Working Group:
 - Mechanisms to promote financial transparency for donor countries
 - Operational protocols in the provision of assistance
 - The promotion of civil-military cooperation in disaster response
 - Simulation exercises
 - Representation of the 4 geographical areas of the Hemisphere The operational framework
 - Incorporation of the Specialized Conferences and the IADB and other competent institutions in the coordinating mechanism
 - Review of country case studies and experiences in the Hemisphere (Chile, Ecuador and Haiti)
4. The importance of disaster-response training was acknowledged. In this regard, Member States welcomed the offer of Mexico to provide training in this area.
